Wake up telangana

Khammam: The district cyber crime police have arrested two persons in Thiruvananthapuram, Kerala, in connection with an online fraud case involving approximately Rs 94 lakh. In a statement here on Wednesday, Commissioner of Police Sunil Dutt informed that the accused had deceived a Khammam-based employee by promising high returns on online trading and investments through a company called 'Dolat Capital Investment Club'. The victim was contacted through WhatsApp and lured into investing money using specific links and applications. Of the total Rs 94 lakh lost, Rs 13 lakh has been traced to the bank accounts of the two arrested individuals, Ashina and Nisamuddin. After arresting them in Thiruvananthapuram, they were brought to Khammam on a transit warrant, produced before the cyber crime court and subsequently remanded to judicial custody, the CP noted. Sunil Dutt commended DSP (Cyber Crime) Ch R V Phaninder, Inspector Ravi Kumar, SIs Ranjith Kumar and Vijay Kumar, head constable Srinivasa Rao, constables Venkata Krishna Rao, Nagendra, Krishna Prasad and Swapna, along with the cyber crime police station staff, for nabbing the accused. Commissioner Sunil Dutt said the investigation is continuing to identify other members of the fraud network and trace the remaining amount allegedly siphoned off through multiple bank accounts. Police suspect that the accused were part of a larger cyber fraud syndicate that targeted victims across different states by using fake investment platforms, social media groups and instant messaging applications to lure unsuspecting investors with promises of unrealistic profits. He urged the public to exercise extreme caution while investing through online platforms and advised them not to trust investment offers received through WhatsApp, Telegram or other social media applications without verifying their authenticity. Citizens were also advised to check whether investment firms are registered with the appropriate regulatory authorities before transferring money. The Commissioner further appealed to victims of cyber fraud to report incidents immediately by calling the national cybercrime helpline **1930** or registering complaints through the National Cyber Crime Reporting Portal. Prompt reporting, he said, significantly improves the chances of freezing fraudulent transactions

Iranian President Masoud Pezeshkian has also invited Prime Minister Narendra Modi to attend the ceremonies, according to diplomatic sources. However, New Delhi has not confirmed whether the Prime Minister will travel to Iran.

Katju declines invitation Former Supreme Court judge Markandey Katju said he had also been invited to attend the funeral but would not be able to travel because of ill health. In a post on X, Katju shared what he said was his reply to the invitation, expressing gratitude to the Iranian leadership for the gesture and conveying his condolences over Khamenei's death. Katju said he had wished to visit Iran and attend the funeral but was forced to decline due to health reasons. He also praised the late Iranian leader and extended his sympathies to Khamenei's family and the Iranian people. Funeral ceremonies from July 4 The funeral ceremonies are scheduled to take place from July 4 to 9 in Tehran, Qom and Mashhad, with additional processions planned in Iraq. Iranian authorities expect millions of mourners to attend and have tightened security following the recent regional conflict. The invitations reflect the longstanding diplomatic and civilisational ties between

Those involved in theft at Ram temple will get cancer: BJP MLA

Unnao: A BJP MLA has stirred a controversy after a viral video purportedly showed him saying that those involved in the embezzlement of donations at the Ram temple in Ayodhya would be afflicted with cancer and die a painful death. Anil Singh, who represents the Purwa Assembly constituency in Unnao district, made the purported remarks at a BJP programme in Maurawan on Sunday. In the video, the MLA is heard saying, "Those who have stolen from Lord Ram's temple will directly get cancer. It will be a death sentence from God. Wait for a year, they will develop cancer." While the government would take legal action against those responsible, "Lord Ram will punish them in such a way that they will die a painful death, and their next seven generations will remember the consequences of stealing from the temple," he stated in the video. The alleged theft of donations at the Ram temple in Ayodhya has sparked a political row in Uttar Pradesh. The UP government on June 13 constituted the SIT on a request from the temple trust following allegations of misappropriation of donations. Based on the SIT's report, eight people — Avinash Shukla, Anukalp Mishra, Lav Kush Mishra, Manish Kumar Yadav, Karunesh Pandey, Ram Shankar Mishra, Subhash Srivastava and Ramashankar alias Tinnu Yadav — were arrested. Opposition parties have alleged that only small players were facing action and the main culprits were still free. At the BJP programme, Singh had also targeted the Samajwadi Party, alleging that its

Organs missing in Indian seafarer's body who died in Venezuela

New Delhi: The family of an Indian seafarer, who allegedly died of a cardiac arrest in Venezuela in May, has claimed that several of his internal organs, including the brain, heart and lungs, were missing when his body was repatriated to India, prompting the Federation of Seafarers' Unions of India (FSUI) to demand a comprehensive investigation into the circumstances surrounding his death. The allegations surfaced after a re-autopsy was conducted in India on the body of 33-year-old Rakesh Chauhan, a resident of Uttar Pradesh's Deoria district, whose remains were brought back from the South American country nearly a month after his death. According to the family, the re-autopsy revealed that several vital organs were absent from the body, raising serious questions about the circumstances of his death and the handling of his remains by the authorities in Venezuela. The Federation of Seafarers' Unions of India (FSUI), in a post on X, said Chauhan's body was sent to his hometown without any autopsy report or official documentation from the Venezuelan authorities, explaining the cause of death. Family demanded a re-autopsy. The official Post-Mortem Report conducted in India reveals a horrifying truth: NOT A SINGLE ORGAN was found in the body.

MCRHRD Institute here, the Chief Minister instructed officials to accord top priority to enhancing revenue generation, particularly through the Hyderabad Metropolitan Development Authority (HMDA) and Telangana Industrial Infrastructure Corporation (TGIIC).

He directed officials to establish a dedicated 'chasing cell' to ensure continuous follow-up on revenue mobilisation and pending collections. Revanth Reddy also called for stringent measures to curb revenue leakages in key departments, including Commercial Taxes, Excise and Mining. Stressing administrative efficiency, he said departments must strengthen their operational capabilities to achieve the targets set in line with the State Budget. He directed officials to treat land acquisition as a priority to avoid delays in development activities. The Chief Minister emphasised greater use of technology in governance. He instructed officials to integrate beneficiary databases with the Direct Benefit Transfer (DBT) system using Artificial Intelligence (AI) to improve transparency, eliminate inefficiencies and ensure better utilisation of government funds. Calling for a practical approach to fiscal planning, Revanth Reddy asked departments to prepare the budget based on ground realities rather than hypothetical projections. He said allocations should prioritise the completion of pending projects and ongoing infrastructure works. He assured officials of the government's full support in achieving revenue and development targets but made it clear that there would be no room for negligence in revenue enhancement or fund mobilisation. Deputy Chief Minister Mallu Bhatti Vikramarka, Ministers N. Uttam Kumar Reddy and Jupally Krishna Rao, Chief Secretary Sanjay Jaju, Advisor Ramakrishna Rao and other senior officials attended the meeting. The Chief Minister also directed all departments to maintain strict fiscal discipline and ensure that public funds are utilised efficiently and transparently. He asked officials to regularly review the progress of revenue-generating initiatives, remove administrative bottlenecks, and expedite approvals for key infrastructure and industrial projects.

The Lebanon-Israel agreement is paving the way for the next war

After months of war, pressure and diplomatic choreography, Lebanon has effectively entered into a declaration of intent with Israel. The reactions were swift: condemnation from wide swaths of Lebanon's political actors, including Hezbollah and its allies, as well as protests in the streets and criticism in the media. The problems with the signed document are many – it is unrealistic, politically explosive and constitutionally suspect. But perhaps the worst aspect of it is that it paves the way for a new war and for Lebanon to be blamed for it. An impossible agreement Israel has long understood the value of loosely worded interim arrangements, declarations and deferred questions. The Oslo agreement is titled Declarations of Principles and later; and "later" never came. The interim architecture hardened into a reality in which Israel preserved freedom of action, expanded apartheid, occupation, endless land grabs, and blamed the Palestinians for failing to meet conditions they could never fully control. Lebanon is not Palestine, and neither the documents nor the contexts are identical. But the diplomatic logic is similar enough to be alarming: Lebanon and Israel declaring "their ambition to end conflict" while avoiding final answers may appear flexible, but in practice, it is most likely a trap. The framework Lebanon has now accepted will be difficult, if not impossible, to implement as written, primarily because the Lebanese state cannot simply replace Hezbollah by decree. Nor can the Lebanese army suddenly become the sovereign deterrent force that everyone claims to want while remaining underfunded, overburdened, politically compromised and dependent on external military assistance that is itself limited by Israeli and American red lines. In effect, Lebanon is being asked to act like a sovereign state precisely where its sovereign capacities are weakest. It is expected to control armed actors it cannot defeat, negotiate with an enemy it cannot deter, and accept obligations whose enforcement depends on powers that do not treat Lebanese sovereignty as the primary objective. Constitutional challenges, tactical delays The most dangerous clauses are those that reach beyond the battlefield. Any language requiring the parties to cease "hostile" or "adverse" action in international political or legal forums should alarm ordinary Lebanese, victims of war crimes and defenders of international law. Lebanon cannot match Israel militarily, and thus its only remaining tools are diplomatic, legal and political. To constrain those tools – such as Lebanon's accession to the International Criminal Court – in the name of "de-escalation" is to disarm the state in the very arenas where it still has some leverage. There is also a deeper constitutional problem. Given the level of blowback, the Lebanese president and prime minister may eventually wish to present the declaration as a political understanding rather than a binding agreement. But labels do not settle substance. If the text touches on war and peace, territorial arrangements, international obligations, security deployments, recognition, withdrawal or restrictions on Lebanon's legal conduct, then it is no longer merely diplomatic theatre. Lebanon's constitutional order does not give any one official the right to make such commitments alone. Treaties and international accords require institutional approval. Matters of war, peace and national security fall within

UKRAINIAN DRONE STRIKES TRIGGER FUEL SHORTAGES ACROSS RUSSIA

Moscow: The lines are growing at Russian gas stations, and so is the frustration and uncertainty as several months of Ukrainian attacks have set oil refineries ablaze and choked supplies for motorists across the vast country. Fuel rationing has been introduced in many regions, with hours-long queues of cars snaking beside roads. Social media videos show drivers aghast at the lines or swearing at empty gas pumps and rising prices. The mayor of the Siberian city of Irkutsk even ordered portable toilets to be brought in to accommodate those waiting in line. The other events in the war, now in its fifth year. It drew a rare admission from President Vladimir Putin, who acknowledged that "problems persist for both motorists and businesses," and "there are still queues at petrol stations, and finding the right grade of petrol isn't always easy." Putin insisted the shortages are "not critical" and "temporary." But that appeared to do little to reassure at least one motorist in Moscow, the wealthy capital that is typically better insulated from economic shocks than the rest of the country. I think the situation is not very good," the motorist waiting in line told The Associated Press on Monday, the day after Putin's televised remarks. They say one thing on television, and in reality it's another. ... People are queuing everywhere," he added, declining to identify himself out of concern for his safety. Ukraine hits energy targets multiple times An AP count shows over 50 reported attacks by Ukraine on oil refineries, depots, terminals and other oil infrastructure in Russia and the illegally annexed Crimean Peninsula since late March. Often, the same facility is hit more than once, such as the refinery in the Black Sea town of Tuapse, which was struck four times in just over two weeks. As a result, the amount of crude oil Russia processed into fuel in June was down 25 per cent from a year ago, to 3.95 million barrels per day, the lowest level in more than two decades, said Gary Peach, an oil markets analyst at Energy Intelligence. The outages are extraordinary," he said. Gasoline production has fallen 17 per cent to 850,000 barrels a day, from 1.03 million a day a year ago, far short of what is needed for the domestic market. Russia exports relatively little gasoline. About a third of Russia's oil refining capacity is offline, said Chris Weafer, CEO of Macro-Advisory Ltd Consultancy, noting that because refineries do not publicly confirm the extent of the damage, his estimate comes from anecdotal evidence and oil industry sources. It comes at a very critical time for the Russian economy, in that the agriculture season, particularly the harvest season, is now

Six workers abducted from mining site in Pakistan's Balochistan

Karachi: Authorities have launched a search operation after six workers of a private mining company were abducted from a mining site in Pakistan's Balochistan province. The six men were abducted by unidentified armed men who stormed the mining site on Tuesday in the remote mountainous Zarghoon Ghar area of Harnai district. The armed men stormed the worksite while work was in progress and took away six workers at gunpoint," a police official said. The incident triggered a search operation by law enforcement agencies. All six workers belonged to another province and were of Pashtun background. Previously, there have been several such incidents in which suspected militants belonging to different banned insurgent outfits abducted workers from construction and mining sites. Balochistan, Pakistan's largest province by land area, has several mountainous and remote regions from where insurgents belonging to banned outfits have been operating in recent years, mostly carrying out hit-and-run attacks and posing challenges for the security forces. In May, insurgents kidnapped seven people, including two police personnel, in Balochistan's gas-rich Dera Bugti area. The abductions took place just three days after an Air Force Security Force (ASF) officer and his associate were kidnapped from the Kalat area of the province. The ASF officer's body was found late last month in a remote area of Kalat.

Similarly, late last year, there were two major incidents in which labourers were abducted from construction sites in Mastung and Khuzdar. These abductions highlight the challenges faced by security forces in Pakistan's restive western province. Security has been intensified across Harnai district and neighbouring areas, with police, Frontier Corps personnel and other law enforcement agencies establishing checkpoints and conducting search operations in the surrounding mountainous terrain. Authorities are also gathering intelligence to trace the movement of the abductors and secure the safe release of the workers. The latest incident has once again raised concerns over the safety of labourers and employees working on mining, infrastructure and development projects in Balochistan. Worker associations and local leaders have urged the government to

India, US deepen collaboration in semi conductors, AI and quantum technologies

Washington: India and the United States are stepping up cooperation in semiconductors, artificial intelligence, quantum technologies and critical minerals, with senior officials from both countries saying the strategic partnership is moving from policy frameworks to concrete projects and trusted technology supply chains. Machine Learning & Artificial Intelligence Speaking at a high-level roundtable in Washington this week, hosted by the US-India Strategic and Partnership Forum, India's Ambassador to the US, Vinay Kwatra, said the two countries have complementary strengths in emerging technologies. "The opportunity before the United States and India extends from chips to neural networks. India's mission-based approach across semiconductors, AI, and quantum technologies, combined with America's innovation ecosystem, creates enormous potential for collaboration. Together, we can build trusted, resilient technology ecosystems while ensuring secure access to the critical infrastructure that powers these emerging technologies," he said. Collaboration & Conferencing Software The roundtable brought together diplomats, policymakers and industry leaders working in semiconductors, AI, quantum technologies and critical minerals. The discussions focused on strengthening critical supply chains, accelerating AI innovation and building economic resilience. S. Krishnan, Secretary in India's Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (MeitY), said India was rapidly emerging as a trusted partner in the global technology supply chain.

"India is positioning itself as a trusted and resilient partner in the global technology supply chain. Our electronics manufacturing ecosystem has expanded dramatically, semiconductor fabrication is now becoming a reality, and the next phase of our Semiconductor Mission will build on this momentum. Machine Learning & Artificial Intelligence "Combined with India's talent, digital public infrastructure, and AI capabilities, we have an opportunity to develop solutions not just for India, but for the world," he said. K. Nagaraj Naidu, Additional Secretary (Americas) in the Ministry of External Affairs, said the India-US relationship had evolved into a comprehensive strategic partnership suited to emerging technologies.

India and the United States have built a comprehensive strategic partnership fit for the 21st century. Through initiatives spanning AI, quantum technologies, critical minerals, advanced energy, and trusted supply chains, we are now moving from principles to projects. The private sector will play an indispensable role in transforming these frameworks into real-world outcomes," he said. US-India Strategic Partnership Forum (USISPF) President and CEO Mukesh Aghi said that microchips and critical minerals would define the future of the global economy. The United States and India are uniquely positioned to build the trusted technology partnership of the 21st century. From semiconductors and AI to critical minerals and quantum technologies, the government can establish the enabling framework.

But it is industry that will ultimately drive execution, innovation, and investment. USISPF is proud to convene this dialogue to help translate strategic vision into tangible partnerships," he said. USISPF organised the roundtable in partnership with the Embassy of India in Washington and the Silverado Policy Accelerator. It also featured Bill Guidera, Deputy Under Secretary for Innovation and Engagement at the US Department of Commerce, and Christopher Saldana, Deputy Assistant Secretary in the Office of Critical Minerals, Materials, and Manufacturing at the US Department of Energy. The organisers said closer collaboration between governments, industry and research institutions would be essential as India and the United States deepen cooperation in emerging technologies and resilient supply

Hyderabad businessman goes missing after borrowing Rs 50 crore

Hyderabad: A Hyderabad-based businessman and his wife have allegedly gone missing after borrowing more than Rs 50 crore from nearly 60 people in his colony by claiming a financial emergency. The incident came to light after many of his victims approached Malkajgiri Police Commissioner B Sumathi, demanding immediate action against the businessman. Pabba Chandrasekhar, a resident of Bhagawan Colony, Chakripuram in Kushaiguda, operated a cement dealership named Sri Venkateswara Marketing for nearly 30 years, according to the complainant. Reasons ranged from daughter's marriage to business ventures. The victims said Chandrasekhar had borrowed money from several people over the years, providing different reasons. While some were informed that he needed it urgently for his daughter's marriage and his father's medical treatment, others were told that he required funds for constructing a house in his colony. He allegedly convinced some by claiming that depositing money with cement companies would help him secure business schemes and that paying Rs 50 lakh towards Goods and Services Tax (GST) would qualify for the release of Rs 3 crore. More than 60 people lent to Chandrasekhar, amounting to Rs 50 crore, the victims said. Promised high returns Chandrasekhar often took money, promising high-interest returns. He also took hand loans from many, with the promise of repaying within a short period. The residents said they trusted him due to his established presence and business in the neighbourhood. The businessman even served as the general secretary of the All India Vysya Federation (AIVF), a community established to promote the interests of the Vaishya community. The victims said Chandrasekhar and his wife have been untraceable since June 22, and both their mobile phones were switched off. They reportedly left their two daughters at a relative's house before fleeing, the victims claimed. His disappearance caused panic among the local residents, as many who had lent their money were unable to recover the amount or get hold of the businessman. Several victims alleged that they had invested their life savings, retirement funds and money borrowed from banks or relatives after placing complete trust in Chandrasekhar's assurances. Many claimed they are now under severe financial stress, with some struggling to repay loans and meet household expenses following his sudden disappearance. The affected residents have urged the police to register a criminal case, trace the whereabouts of the businessman and his wife, and recover the allegedly misappropriated funds at the earliest. They have also requested authorities to examine the couple's financial transactions, bank accounts, business records and movable and immovable assets as part of the investigation.

Police officials said they have received complaints from multiple victims and are verifying the allegations. Based on the findings of the preliminary inquiry, appropriate legal action will be initiated. Investigators are also expected to examine whether similar complaints have been lodged in other police station limits and whether additional individuals were affected by the alleged financial fraud. As news of the alleged fraud spread, several affected families gathered in the colony demanding swift action from the authorities. Many claimed they had repeatedly tried to contact Chandrasekhar in the days leading up to his disappearance, but all communication channels remained inaccessible. Some victims alleged that post-dated cheques issued by him had either bounced or could not be encashed, further deepening their financial woes. The complainants have also urged the police to issue a lookout notice and prevent the couple from leaving the country if they have not already done so. They requested the authorities to coordinate with banks, financial institutions and other agencies to trace the movement of funds and identify any properties or assets that could be attached to compensate the victims.

Rupee falls 19 paise to 94.75 against US dollar in early trade

Hyderabad WakeUp Telangana

Mumbai: The rupee fell 19 paise to 94.75 against the American currency in early trade on Wednesday, July 1, weighed down by the strength of the American currency in the overseas market. Forex traders said whenever fresh foreign inflows enter the country, the central bank is likely to use the opportunity to rebuild its reserve position rather than allowing the rupee to strengthen too much. Moreover, uncertainty prevailed over the progress of US-Iran peace talks keeping a geopolitical risk premium in the market. At the interbank foreign exchange market, the rupee opened at 94.67, then touched 94.75 against the US dollar, registering a loss of 19 paise from its previous close.

On Tuesday, the rupee depreciated by 5 paise to close at 94.56 against the US dollar. The global dollar is also adding pressure. After the US Federal Reserve maintained a cautious stance in its latest policy meeting, the Dollar Index has continued to hold above the 101 mark, CR Forex Advisors MD Amit Pabari said. As long as the dollar stays firm globally, the rupee is likely to remain under pressure, he added. Meanwhile, the dollar index, which gauges the greenback's strength against a basket of six currencies, was trading at 101.34, up 0.15 per cent. Meanwhile, Brent crude, the global oil benchmark, was trading higher by 0.38 per cent at USD 73.23 per barrel in futures trade. According to Anil Kumar Bhansali, Head of Treasury and Executive Director, Finrex Treasury Advisors LLP, continued normalisation of oil flows through the Strait of Hormuz following the US-Iran ceasefire and diplomatic engagement kept it at the lower side at USD 73.15 per barrel this morning as uncertainty over the progress of US-Iran peace talks kept a risk premium in the market. On the domestic equity market front, Sensex climbed 182.42 points to 76,661.36 in early trade, while the Nifty was up 49.90 points to 23,916.85. Foreign institutional investors sold equities worth Rs 2,556.75 crore on a net basis on Tuesday, according to exchange data. On the domestic macroeconomic front, India's fiscal deficit touched 9.6 per cent of the FY27 budget target at the end of May, government data showed on Tuesday. The fiscal deficit, or gap between the government's expenditure and revenue, was Rs 1.62 lakh crore in value terms at the end of May 2026, data released by the Controller General of Accounts (CGA) showed. Market participants will closely monitor upcoming domestic and global economic indicators, including inflation trends, manufacturing and services activity data, and key policy announcements by major central banks, for further cues on market direction. Analysts believe that while strong domestic fundamentals continue to support investor sentiment, volatility may persist due to global uncertainties and fluctuations in foreign fund flows. Experts said sustained buying by domestic institutional investors has been providing support to the benchmark indices despite intermittent selling by foreign institutional investors. They added that sectors linked to infrastructure, banking, capital goods and consumption are likely to remain in focus as investors assess corpo-

for its U.S. market debut later on Wednesday after the Italian technology company priced its initial public offering above the range to raise $1.68 billion. The listing will test investor appetite for software companies after the industry was hammered earlier this year over fears that AI could disrupt established business models. Software companies have been largely absent from the U.S. IPO market so far in 2026, even as a steady flow of large deals and SpaceX's blockbuster listing pushed second-quarter proceeds past a record-breaking $100 billion. It'll definitely be a data point for the software industry, but that may simply be due to the scarcity of deals here. Bending Spoons has a very different profile compared to most software IPOs in the pipeline," said Matt Kennedy, senior strategist at Renaissance Capital, a provider of IPO-focused research and ETFs. Bending Spoons' playbook, a hybrid between private equity and a tech company, focuses on buying and revamping digital businesses by cutting staff and overhauling technology. Its acquisitions since 2025 include streaming platform Brightcove, video platform Vimeo, internet brand AOL and ticketing marketplace Eventbrite. ## Dubai: Indian jeweller creates world's most expensive Lego trophy

Dubai: A Lego FIFA World Cup trophy assembled by a 10-year-old boy has been transformed into what is believed to be the world's most expensive Lego trophy, valued at Dirham 300,000 (Rs 77,28,780), after his father, an Indian jeweller in Dubai, embellished it with more than 900 diamonds and hand-crafted 18-carat gold elements. The transformation was the work of Hemant Karamchandani, founder and CEO of Passion Jewellers. Inspired by his son Yash's three-day effort to assemble the 2,842-piece Lego FIFA World Cup model, Karamchandani combined childhood creativity with bespoke jewellery craftsmanship to create the one-of-a-kind replica. From Lego model to luxury showpiece The 36cm trophy took around 35 days to complete at Passion Jewellers' workshop in Dubai's Gold & Diamond Park. Custom-made 18-carat gold elements were crafted to fit seamlessly into the original Lego structure before more than 900 diamonds were carefully set by hand. Speaking to Reuters, Karamchandani said the idea began as a simple gesture to recognise his son's dedication. What started with a gold FIFA World Cup nameplate gradually evolved into a far more elaborate creation. Rather than covering the entire model with diamonds, he said the embellishments were kept subtle to preserve the appearance of the iconic trophy while adding a distinctive jewellery finish. Trophy to tour UAE Despite its Dh 300,000 valuation, the trophy is not for sale. Instead, it will be showcased at schools, football academies, shopping malls and public exhibitions across the UAE to encourage young people to dream big through creativity and sport. According to The National, the replica forms part of the 'Beyond the Game' initiative under the UAE's '100 Dreams. 100 Opportunities' campaign. Once its public tour concludes, the trophy could either be auctioned for charity or displayed at Dubai's Museum of the Future. A legacy of bespoke creations Originally from Mumbai, Karamchandani moved to Dubai in 2002 and founded Passion Jewellers, where he specialises in bespoke luxury jewellery. His work has attracted clients from around the world, and he previously collaborated with luxury footwear brand Jada Dubai to create the Passion Diamond Shoes, valued at USD 23.6 million, which were widely reported as the world's most expensive pair of shoes. Following the UAE tour, discussions are expected to take place regarding the trophy's long-term future. Whether it ultimately finds a permanent home in a museum or is auctioned to raise funds for charitable causes, the one-of-a-kind masterpiece has already secured its place as an extraordinary blend of childhood imagination, sporting passion and world-class jewellery craftsmanship. Its story continues to inspire people of all ages, demonstrating that innovation often begins with a simple idea and the courage to bring it to life. As the FIFA World Cup continues to inspire millions across the globe, the dazzling Lego trophy stands as a re-

Former selector Sarandeep Singh backs Vaibhav Sooryavanshi for India T20I

New Delhi: Former India selector Sarandeep Singh wants to see Vaibhav Sooryavanshi in the Indian playing eleven for the T20 series opener against England in Durham. Sooryavanshi did not get to play in the series against Ireland that world champions India lost 0-2. If he plays against England on Wednesday, he would become the youngest cricketer to play for India. He should have played (against Ireland). The team management has to see how it should place him in the playing eleven. Sometimes tough calls have to be made. Give some senior players rest and he might get his opportunity. If you are building the team for the future, then a rotation policy must come into play. Then you have to sit some players out and give them an opportunity," Sarandeep told PTI on the sidelines of the DPL auction here. The 15-year-old was in stellar form in the IPL before scoring 94 off 29 balls for India A in Sri Lanka. Sarandeep backed Sooryavanshi to carry that form at the highest level. This is the time to test him; don't leave him out. If there is an opportunity, just play him in the XI. The form which he is in right now, this is the right time to start playing with him as soon as possible. The way he is batting, he can win matches on your own," the former India spinner observed. Sarandeep feels Sooryavanshi can go on to represent India in all formats. He is very young, he can also learn red-ball skills. He is also playing for Bihar in the Ranji Trophy. He has the talent to play all 3 formats," he noted. Following his impressive performances over the past few months, expectations from the young batter have risen considerably. His fearless batting, ability to clear the boundary with ease, and maturity beyond his years have made him one of the most exciting prospects in Indian cricket. Former players have repeatedly highlighted his calm temperament and willingness to take on quality bowling attacks. The Indian team management is expected to strike a balance between nurturing young talent and maintaining a competitive squad. With several senior players likely to be managed through workload rotation ahead of a busy international calendar, the England series could provide the perfect opportunity for emerging players like Sooryavanshi to showcase their abilities on the biggest stage. A successful debut, if it comes, could open the doors for regular appearances in India's white-ball setup and strengthen his chances of featuring in major ICC tournaments in the coming years. Selectors are closely monitoring the performances of young cricketers as they prepare a core group for the next T20 World Cup and other global competitions. For Sooryavanshi, earning an India cap at the age of just 15 would mark a historic milestone and serve as the reward for years of hard work and consistent performances. His journey from domestic cricket to the national squad has inspired many young cricketers across the country, proving that talent, dedication and fearless intent can fast-track a player's rise to the highest level.

Mexico beat Ecuador to reach FIFA WC last 16 after 40 years

Mexico City: Julián Quiñones and Raúl Jiménez scored goals in a nine-minute span in the first half, and Mexico defeated Ecuador 2-0 to break a 40-year drought without a win in the knockout stage and progress to the World Cup round of 16. Quiñones opened the scoring in the 22nd minute while Jiménez added a strike in the 31st minute for the Mexicans, who had not won a knockout-stage match since defeating Bulgaria in the round of 16 when they hosted the tournament in 1986. Mexico subsequently lost seven consecutive times at that same stage from 1994 to 2018. In Qatar 2022, they were eliminated in the group stage for the first time since Argentina in 1978. It was Quiñones third goal of the tournament and he is now El Tri's second-best scorer in World Cup history behind Luis "Matador" Hernández and Javier "Chicharito" Hernández, who scored four each.

Jiménez scored his second goal of the tournament and has 47 with the national team to break a tie with Jared Borgetti. He is five away from tying "Chicharito" Hernández as the all-time leading scorer for Mexico. Mexico will play another home match Sunday against the winner of Wednesday's match between England and Congo. Playing at the iconic Azteca Stadium, the Mexican squad boasts an undefeated record across 10 World Cup matches. Mexico has just two official losses at the venue — the last being a World Cup qualifying defeat to Honduras on Sept. 6, 2013. With the win, Mexico extended its unbeaten run to 12 games, dating back to a friendly loss against Paraguay in November. Mexico also became the first CONCACAF side to eliminate a CONMEBOL side in a World Cup knockout match. Teams from South America won the previous five meetings. Ecuador was trying to advance to the round of 16 for the second time in their history and the first since Germany 2006. The match started one hour after the original scheduled time due to a thunderstorm. It was the second match of the tournament affected by weather. A storm during the France-Iraq match at Philadelphia on June 22 caused a 2-hour, 11-minute suspension at the end of the first half. Mexico won a World Cup knockout match for the first time since 1986, ending a 40-year wait to reach

WITH SHEKHAR TONITE, THE OG OF INDIAN LATE-NIGHT SATIRE SEEMS TO BE DOING SOMETHING FAR MORE DARING. HE IS USING COMEDY TO HOLD UP A MIRROR TO POLITICS, POWER AND THE MESS CITIZENS ARE FORCED TO LIVE. THE SHOW HAS ALREADY DROPPED SEVEN EPISODES, BUT THE CONVERSATION AROUND IT HAS NOW MOVED BEYOND NOSTALGIA. SHEKHAR IS NOT ONLY BRINGING BACK THE FORMAT THAT ONCE MADE

MOVERS AND SHAKERS ICONIC. HE IS BRINGING BACK THE ONE THING INDIAN COMEDY HAS BEEN MISSING BADLY: POLITICAL BITE. AT A TIME WHEN COMEDIANS OFTEN THINK TWICE BEFORE TOUCHING POLITICS, SHEKHAR IS WALKING STRAIGHT INTO THAT SPACE. FROM NEET AND PAPER LEAKS TO PETROL PRICES, EDUCATION FAILURES, UNEMPLOYMENT, VOTE-BANK POLITICS, WOMEN'S SAFETY, JUSTICE DELAYS, THE FALLING RUPEE AND THE FEAR OF QUESTIONING POWER, SHEKHAR TONITE IS SLOWLY TURNING INTO A SHOW THAT DOES NOT WANT TO PLAY SAFE. WITH EVERY DAY, THE KING, THE MIRROR AND THE QUESTION

NOBODY WANTED TO ASK SHEKHAR RECENTLY WENT VIRAL FOR A CRYPTIC VIDEO ABOUT A KING AND A MAGICAL MIRROR. IN THE VIDEO, HE NARRATES THE STORY OF A RULER WHO GETS SO USED TO PRAISE THAT HE STARTS BELIEVING HE IS ABOVE CRITICISM. THEN A MIRROR SHOWS HIM HIS

REAL FLAWS. INSTEAD OF FIXING HIMSELF, THE KING BREAKS THE MIRROR. THE PUNCH IN THE STORY COMES WHEN THE KING'S FLATTERERS ADVISE HIM TO DECLARE ANYONE HOLDING A MIRROR AN ENEMY, AND ANYONE ASKING QUESTIONS A TRAITOR. SHEKHAR ENDS THE TALE WITHOUT NAMING ANYONE, BUT THE INTERNET QUICKLY READ BETWEEN THE LINES. THAT IS WHERE THE BREAK-THROUGH IS. SHEKHAR DID NOT NEED TO TAKE A NAME. THE STORY DID THE WORK. THE MIRROR BECAME THE MEDIA. THE KING BECAME POWER. THE FLATTERERS BECAME THE ECOSYSTEM AROUND IT. AND THE PEOPLE ASKING QUESTIONS BECAME THE REAL TARGET

OF THE SATIRE. DURING THE "COCKROACH JANTA PARTY" BIT, HE TURNED COCKROACHES INTO A SYMBOL OF ORDINARY CITIZENS WHO ARE IGNORED, CRUSHED AND DISMISSED, BUT STILL SOMEHOW SURVIVE. HE SAID, "YE COCKROACH BHI AJEEB PRAANI HAI. KAHIN BHI PAHUNCH JAATA HAI." HE THEN SPOKE ABOUT THEM REACHING DELHI, RAISING SLOGANS AND DEMANDING THE EDUCATION MINISTER'S RESIGNATION. BUT THE REAL LINE CAME WHEN HE SAID, "MERE PYAARE COCKROACHO, UMEDEIN TOH AAPNE JAGADI HAIN. AB AAPSE BAS ITNA AAGRAH HAI. JANTAR MANTAR SE CHHOO MANTAR MAT HO JAIYE." THAT WAS NOT JUST WORD-

PLAY. THAT WAS SHEKHAR TELLING PROTESTERS NOT TO VANISH AFTER ONE DAY OF ANGER. THEN CAME THE LINE THAT GAVE THE SEGMENT ITS REAL FORCE: "ZINDA LOKTANTRA MEIN AWAAZ ZINDA REHNI CHAHIYE." IN TODAY'S CLIMATE, THAT LINE DOES NOT SOUND LIKE A THROWAWAY JOKE. IT SOUNDS LIKE THE WHOLE REASON SHEKHAR TONITE EXISTS. FROM NEET TO PAPER LEAKS, SHEKHAR GOES AFTER EDUCATION FAILURES SHEKHAR HAS ALSO BEEN USING THE SHOW TO TALK ABOUT EDUCATION, AND NOT IN A POLITE, PANEL DISCUSSION WAY. HE TAKES THE ISSUE AND TURNS IT INTO SATIRE THAT HITS HARDER THAN A LECTURE.

Govt failure led to first-ever Singareni officers strike: Harish

HYDERABAD

Hyderabad: Bharat Rashtra Samithi (BRS) leader T Harish Rao on Wednesday, July 1, blamed the Revanth Reddy government for the Singareni officers' strike in Telangana.

"It is a failure of the Congress government that Singareni officials have resorted to a strike for the first time in history; Deputy Chief Minister Bhatti Vikramarka remains completely indifferent to the situation," said the Siddipet MLA. The leader participated in a relay hunger strike organised by the Singareni Coal Mine Officers' Association at the Srirampur general manager office on Wednesday, July 1, demanding the immediate implementation of Performance Related Pay (PRP) and Pay Revision Committee (PRC). During the tenure of the previous BRS government, PRP was paid to officials regularly every year; however, since the Congress government took office, PRP payments have been halted for the past two years, thereby trampling upon the officials' rights," said the former minister. No PRP led to decrease in coal productions, claims Rao Harish Rao said the suspension of PRP in the last two years has caused anxiety among officials, leading to a massive decline in coal production. "Due to the decline in coal stocks and production at Singareni, several units at the state's KTPS, Yadadri, and Bhadradi thermal power plants have been forced to shut down," he alleged. Rao went as far as to say that the government's "flawed policies" have halted power generation, creating a dismal situation where Telangana's Distribution Companies (DISCOMs) are compelled to purchase electricity from external power exchanges, even during the monsoon sea-

Syed Sohail. A mobile phone worth Rs 10,000 was also seized, taking the total value of the seized property to Rs 98,277. The Task Force also advised the public to check the manufacturing and expiry dates of medicines before purchasing them and to report the sale of expired or suspicious medicines to the authorities. During the inspection, officials found that several expired pharmaceutical products had allegedly not been removed from the shelves despite the expiry of their validity period. Authorities said the sale of expired medicines poses a serious risk to public health, as such products may lose their effectiveness or, in some cases, cause adverse health effects. Samples and records from the shops have been taken for further examination. The arrested individuals were booked under the relevant provisions of the law, and further investigation is underway to determine whether expired medicines had been sold to customers and if similar violations occurred at other outlets linked to the ac-

used. Officials are also verifying procurement records, stock registers and invoices to ascertain the source of the expired products and whether any regulatory norms were violated. who resides on the first floor, noticed the broken lock on the front door and informed the police. The Asif Nagar Additional Commissioner of Police, Habibnagar Station House Officer, the Detective Inspector, and the Clue Team reached the spot and collected fingerprints and other evidence from the house. According to police, the burglars broke into just one of the two bedroom cupboards and took the valuables. During the investigation, the officers recovered tools used to break into the house, hidden under the stairs. The owner said Rs

21 lakh in cash, gold ornaments weighing nearly 20 tolas, including a 7.5-tola necklace, 3.5-tola bangles, a 2-tola mangalsutra, and six gold rings weighing around 3 tolas, and other valuables were missing from his house. They are also verifying whether any known property offenders recently released from prison were active in the area. Officials said forensic experts have collected fingerprints, footprints and other material evidence from the scene, which will be sent for scientific analysis. Police are also questioning local residents, security guards and the tenant to gather information that could help identify the culprits. Mobile phone tower data from the vicinity is also being analysed as part of the investigation.
